Bottled up Nothingness

I want to share my feelings with you.

The problem is that I'm empty.

Like an old bottle on a beach.

I should have something in me.

A letter maybe.

But I don't.

Do you?

Downtime

When you're gone,
everything's wrong.

The tree outside drops its leaves,
the flowers in the kitchen begin to droop,
the brook stops streaming
and the birds stop chirping.

My room has gone cold.
This body of mine
blends into the temperature.

A big coat.

Won't warm me up.

A band-aid.

Won't put me back together.

Your embrace.

The only medicine.

Comfort Corner

I don't want eyes upon me.

Pay no
attention to me.

I think my corner's just fine.

I'll lie
here by my own side.

Blame Your Brain

We blame our hearts
for making us feel
out of place,
sad and broken,
but it's been
our brains
all along.
