PART 1

The Facebook Couple

As the interviewer interviews, pictures of the couple's Facebook posts and pictures are seen on the screen. The pictures are so sugary that it is annoying.

INTERVIEWER

Hello and welcome to our show. With me is now a man who is a famous actor, a 70-year old legend whose wife is twenty years younger than him. Please welcome Adam Lime. Hello Adam.

ADAM

Hello, Steven.

INTERVIEWER

You and your wife have been called the masters of Facebook. You are very popular at Facebook. Why is this?

ADAM

I think it is because we share our stories and get people excited about ourselves.

INTERVIEWER

What is your message concerning Facebook?

ADAM

It is this: Why don't people love each other more? Me and my wife love each other and post about our happiness and love so that other human beings can enjoy them. I don't see anything bad about sharing our happiness to everyone.

INTERVIEWER

So you think yourselves as modern-day preachers of love?

ADAM

Yes, something like that.

INTERVIEWER

You and your wife both send approximately ten posts a day to Facebook. What are the contents of you and your wife's Facebook posts?

ADAM

Well we send our old pictures when we met and our honeymoon pictures in foreign countries and we treat Facebook as a diary so we tend to send everything about our lives there. Every achievement and every dream and every thought. We also send pictures of our sons and daughters so everyone can see them.

INTERVIEWER

I see.

ADAM

We also send our cooking receipts and our history, when we were children or younger. There is no need to hide all this for privacy.

INTERVIEWER

Do you do this for charity or for inspiring people?

ADAM

No, we just want to get attention and glow in our pride every second of the day.

INTERVIEWER

I see...thank you for telling your real motive. God's thumb will like you...Now

The End.

No Woman Is a Comic Genius

Hey

What?

I am afraid.

Of what?

I am afraid there is a comic genius in my front yard.

Ok, let's check it out.

Oh, wait, it's a woman. False alarm.

Mr. Big Man

A bass riff plays at the back.

Mr. Big Man has a beard and he perpetually looks pissed off at something. He looks stern and serious.

NARRATOR

This is Mr. Big Man. He is a man's man, a macho man. A manly man who has all the male hobbies and interests. He is part of every male subculture.

Mr. Big Man is at a local store choosing food items to purchase.

NARRATOR

He hunts and eats all the animals there are. He once ate the eyeballs and testicles of a moose. He also collects cars and repairs them. He served in the military as a captain. He knows all the war strategies. He loves heavy metal music. He plays the guitar and bass. He frequently tattoos himself if he loses a bet. He also loves sports. He plays hockey and football, as well as baseball. He also wrestles and does karate. He is a man's man. He goes to the gym three times a week. He has over 2000 trustworthy friends and acquaintances. He also has eleven children and has been married to three women.

Mr. Big Man leaves the store.

NARRATOR

But he also has a secret hobby. A feminine side, if you will. Some days he collects flowers and dresses up as a woman. He calls himself Diana, after the princess. He sometimes dreams of men degrading him and him objecting to them. He does gay porn.

Mr. Big Man is shown frolicking and jumping like a girl in his living-room dressed up as a woman.

NARRATOR

But don't tell anyone about this. Mr. Big Man would kick your ass for it.

The bass riff plays at the back, Mr. Big Man stares at the camera confidently nodding.

Untitled Finnish Comedy Project is the 21st book of Joni Järvi-Laturi

The book consists of 47 biting sharp and intelligent comedy sketches inspired by the absurd and the crazy in modern-day world.

These sketches comment on school bullying, the comical aspect of babies, alcohol and tobacco, modern music, television shows, hockey, football, politics, men and women, and much more.

This humor will stand comparison with classic comedy like Monty Python, The Office and Men Behaving Badly for its refreshing intelligence and wit.
