Manifestation as an ability (the whole) is perhaps the most important of human skills after the ability to think itself. The more limited someone's different abilities in manifestation are, the less influence (possibilities) he has.

Once he has no influence at all, he has been rendered to a mere object for his environment.

and

Subversion. Subversion is a personal revolution, creation of new. Subversion is to unmake everything to breach through obstacles; it is an individual state of mind and its boundaries are only knowledge, imagination and courage.

PREFACE

On 25th May, 2009

This book is the second edition of the book called “Kumous” in Finnish and thus, is the real intended work, partly because of the nature of my work itself, which had to be written in some more common language and partly due to the process of learning and error correction. The original book was published in Finnish in October 2008 and it has some errors in it that I know of so far:

1.) A. S. Neill was a Scotsman and I had wrongly said that he was an American.

2.) V. I. Lenin’s economical program is called NEP and I had put in the additional P (NEPP).

3.) In the Finnish book, on page 31 there is a quotation, which is not accurate by word. It is condensed from Marx’s text.

4.) The communistic manifest is the communistic party’s manifest.

5.) All unnecessary repetition is taken out to make the book clearer and more readable. In general, this version is sharper and more focused.

Also, I must mention that all quotation is freely translated from Finnish into English, except the parts taken from “the Empire,” so there may very well be minor oddities.

It took me over 2 years to write this work but studying took a couple of decades.

The current Western economical crisis will only deepen. To understand this, you have to take a look at what is behind the normally seen scenes of capitalism, communism and even democracy itself.

The book includes real life examples from today`s Finland, USA and France that support the concept of the book, which is the ideological groundwork for the new Western Alternative.
