

MYTHS

- stories within oneself

For beloved Masha
There it is, the cosmos
with us, within us

Myths

— stories within oneself

Text

Osku Leinonen

Photos

Yuri Popov, Ilmari Ikkonen and Osku Leinonen

Graphic design, layout, pictures and cover

Osku Leinonen

Butoh dancers

Masha Salangina and Osku Leinonen

MYTHS

Copyright © 2012 Osku Leinonen

butoh.name Mythopoetic Theatre

www.oskuleinonen.com

www.butoh.name

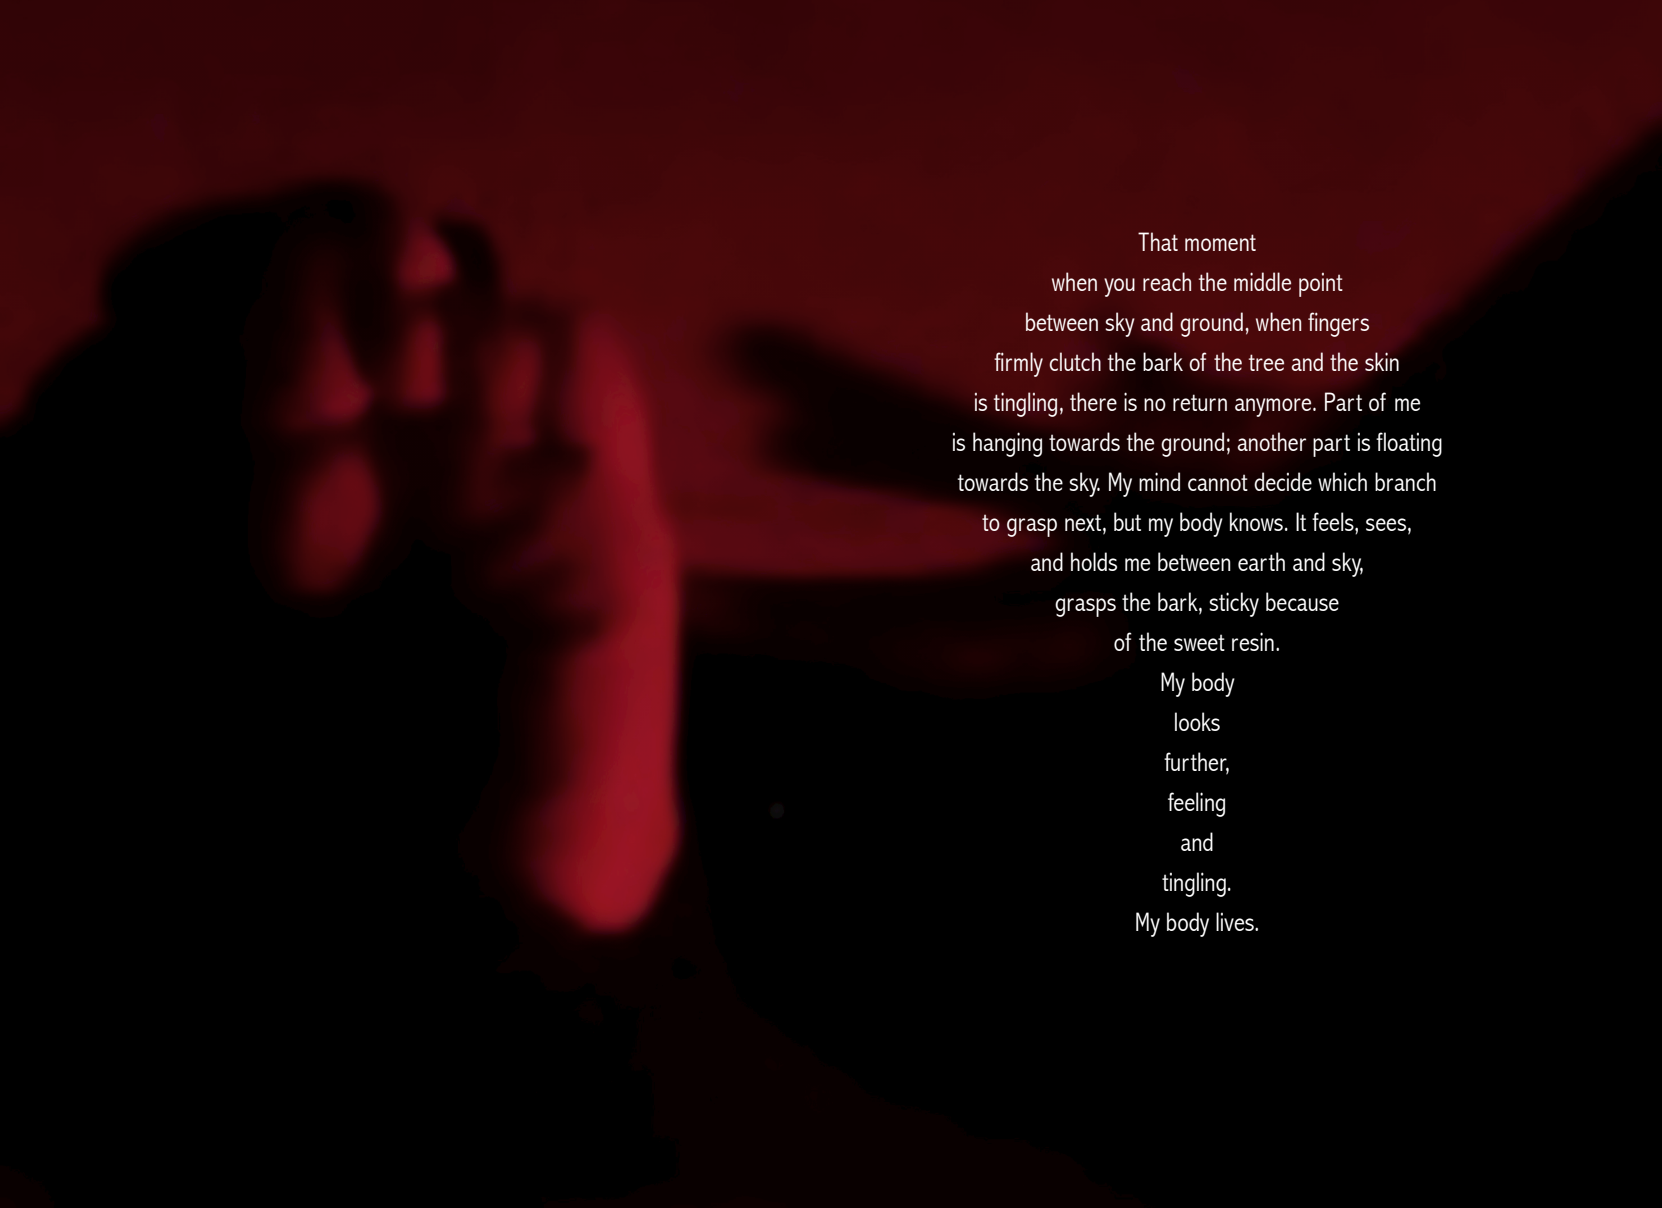

Valmistaja: Books on Demand GmbH, Norderstedt, Saksa

Kustantaja: Books on Demand GmbH, Helsinki, Suomi

ISBN: 978-952-286-410-9

A dramatic, low-key photograph of a man with long, light-colored hair and a beard. He is wearing a dark suit jacket over a light-colored shirt. A single red rose is tucked into his hair on the left side. He is looking upwards with his mouth slightly open, as if in a state of awe or surprise. The background is dark, with a soft blue light illuminating his face and hair. A small red flower is visible on his lapel. The overall mood is mysterious and cinematic.

MYTHS

That moment
when you reach the middle point between sky and ground, when fingers firmly clutch the bark of the tree and the skin is tingling, there is no return anymore. Part of me is hanging towards the ground; another part is floating towards the sky. My mind cannot decide which branch to grasp next, but my body knows. It feels, sees, and holds me between earth and sky, grasps the bark, sticky because of the sweet resin.

My body
looks further,
feeling
and tingling.
My body lives.

